

E and play the voice message from the first telephone automatically through the speakerphone and after hearing said voice message at a respective one of said telephones in said group, anyone can initiate a two-way conversation with the user of said first telephone by answering said respective one of said telephones in said group.

CL 16. (NEW) The system of claim 15, wherein at least one of the group of telephones comprising a display for providing an identification number of the first telephone.

17. (NEW) The system of claim 15, wherein the voice message is automatically terminated after a predetermined period.

18. (NEW) The system of claim 15, wherein the two-way communication is initiated by being in an off-hook mode. --

---